

RED CROSS EXPANDS

Growth of Organization a Marvel of the War.

From a Membership of 20,000 It Has Increased to More than 4,000,000 Members.

Chicago.—The growth of the American Red Cross in the last year has been one of the marvels of the war. The public mind has in some measure kept track of the army, the navy, the aviation corps, the marines, and other parts of Uncle Sam's great fighting machine as they expanded. But consider the case of the Red Cross—least known of all three years ago.

When the war began there were 20,000 members of the Red Cross scattered about the country, chiefly in the larger cities. Not one citizen in twenty could have told how it worked or what it did, except that in great disasters it cared for the victims.

Even one year ago, when the war had been going on for more than two years, and it seemed inevitable that we should be dragged in, there were only 163,587 Red Cross members and 250 chapters.

Today there are more than 4,000,000 Red Cross members, and 2,736 chapters, with new chapters being formed and new members enrolled all the time. Four hundred thousand of these 4,000,000 members are paid subscribers of the Red Cross Magazine.

Of course this tremendous expansion, coming in a single year, has utterly overwhelmed the scheme of administration which was adequate for 170,000 members. An entirely new system was imperative, and it is now being installed. Briefly, this is how it works:

The active head of the Red Cross is General Manager Harvey D. Gibson, who has volunteered his time for the duration of the war. The work is apportioned among bureaus—those of development, publicity, women, nursing, civilian relief, military relief, supplies and accounting.

The territory of the United States has been divided into thirteen sections, each headed by a division manager. Each of these managers, like Mr. Gibson, has volunteered his services without pay so long as the war shall last. Each manager is now reorganizing the administration of his division to correspond with that at Washington, with the director at the head of each bureau and of them also volunteers, working without pay.

ROUND UP YUKON DOG TEAMS

Horses Also Replace Autos on Trails in Alaska After the Snows Begin.

Dawson, Y. T.—The lower Yukon river mail contractors are getting busy on their big winter system. Numerous dog teams still are used on the thousands of miles of Alaska trails. The most important route perhaps, is that between Fairbanks and Chitina, at the terminal of the Copper River railway.

Certain mail was handled over that route all summer by automobile, and these machines will continue running until the heavy snowfalls in November. Large sleighs drawn by horses then will be engaged.

Percy de Wolfe, the Dawson-Eagle mail carrier, has been busy for some time sending hay, grain and other supplies along the route in preparation for the winter service. He will use a launch as long as the river is clear of ice.

Arrow Coat Father $2,500.

Virginia, Minn.—Twenty-five hundred dollars was the amount awarded W. F. McDonald of Eveleth for who a few years ago was shot in the eye by a dart from an arrow in the hands of Simon, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Sax of Eveleth. The plaintiff asked $5,000.

PEOPLE UNDERFED BY THE GERMANS

Weekly Ration Not Sufficient to Maintain Bodily Health and Vigor.

8 OUNCES OF MEAT A WEEK

Food Allowed to Germans and Inhabitants of Territory Occupied by Germans Is Lacking in Energy Producing Elements.

Washington.—Information concerning the weekly ration now being allowed the German people and the civilian population of the occupied portions of northern France and Belgium have been received by the United States food administration. In food value the ration is insufficient properly to maintain bodily health and vigor.

The German ration is as follows, the amount being those allowed per person per week:

Flour, 3.45 pounds; potatoes, 7.05 pounds; cereals (oats, beans and peas), 7 ounces; meat, 8.8 ounces; sugar, 3 ounces; butter and margarine, 2.8 ounces; and other fats, 2.8 ounces.

Stated in terms of American house-keeping, these items amount to sufficient flour to bake 4½ pounds of bread; one-half peck of potatoes; a cupful of beans, peas and oatmeal; one-half pound of meat; 12 ounces of sugar; 6 individual patties of butter; and an equal amount of other fats.

In Northern France.

For the population of that portion of northern France occupied by the Germans, the allowance is as follows:

Sufficient flour for five pounds of bread; one-half peck of potatoes; one cupful of cereal, 12 1-3 ounces of bacon and lard; and 10 dominoes of sugar.

Here meat, butter and margarine are all replaced by bacon and lard. The allowance of flour and cereals are slightly increased, but the allowance of potatoes is less than half the German ration, while sugar is also reduced even below the meager German allowance.

The ration for the civilian population of the occupied portion of Belgium is similar to that of northern France, except bacon and lard are replaced by meat and butter.

The German ration, compared with the ration used as standard for purposes of comparison by the food administration shows that in body building protein the Germans have .41 of a pound, and the standard ration 1.06 pounds. In fats, the German ration contains .43 of a pound, as compared with standard 7 pounds. In carbohydrates, the German ration contains 4.17 pounds, as compared to 9.9 pounds for the standard ration. In total calories, the German ration aggregates 10,542 as compared to 24,000 in the standard ration.

The standard ration is regarded as sufficient only for a person in a sedentary occupation, or one involving relatively slight physical labor; and yet it provides two and one-half times as much body-building protein, and nearly twice as much fat, and nearly two and one-half times as much carbohydrates as the German ration.

Ration Not Sufficient.

In the ration for northern France, the substitution of bacon and lard makes the weekly allowance of protein equal only three-fourths of the German ration, and only one-third of the standard ration.

In the whole, it may be said that for a person in an occupation requiring only a moderate degree of activity, these rations provide considerably less than the amounts requisite to maintain bodily health and vigor.

The greatest efficiency is in energy-producing foodstuffs, although the lack of body-building proteins is physiologically more important, and liable to have more serious and more permanent results.

MAKES OWN ENAMELED WARE

United States Now Producing Kitchen Utensils Formerly Imported From Germany and Austria.

New York.—The United States for the first time in its history is now producing all of the enameled utensils used in American households and in addition is able to supply large quantities to Europe and South and Central American countries. According to figures recently compiled, households of the United States are at present buying enamel utensils at about the rate of $30,000,000 yearly. In former years a considerable portion of these goods was supplied by manufacturers of Sweden, Germany and Austria. Since the beginning of the war there has been a steady decline in these importations, and at the present time they are practically nil. Japan for a time sent in shipments of the ware, but as the quality of the Japanese goods was unsatisfactory, the supply from that source has largely ended.

FREE FROM PAIN

And No Longer Nervous, Since Taking Cardui, Says Georgia Lady.

Trenton, Ga.—Mrs. Ellie Clifford, of this place, writes: "I have always suffered . . . but was worse after marriage. I would have . . . pains and misery in my stomach and hips. I would have a bad sick headache every time, which would generally last two days. I had always heard what a good medicine Cardui was, so I thought I would try it. I used two bottles and it helped me."

Fifteen months later I began to be nervous and was worse at my . . . But at these times I did not have any pain and do not now suffer any pain. But I was very nervous, so nervous that my hands would shake. Any noise would make me jump. So I took two more bottles of Cardui. I have never been nervous since . . . and do not have any pain. I think this is all due to Cardui and Black-Draught."

Cardui, the woman's tonic, is composed only of pure vegetable ingredients, which have been recognized for many years by standard medical books as of medicinal value in the treatment of many diseases peculiar to women. Try Cardui.

A CHILD HATES OIL, CALOMEL, PILLS FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF EGGS" IF CROSS, SICK, FE-VERISH, CONSTIPATED.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicate "California Syrup of Eggs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Eggs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

"POOR JOHN" TAYLOR.

Louisa, Ky.—John Taylor, familiarly known as "Poor John," died at a hospital in this city following a long illness of general debility. Taylor was the wealthiest man in this section of Kentucky; the value of his estate being estimated at something like a million dollars. Much of his property consisted of land in Texas which he bought many years ago. His wife died a number of years ago, and no children were ever born to them. He nearest kin are fourteen nephews and nieces. Some time ago Mr. Taylor sent checks for $10.00 to each of his nephews and nieces as Christmas gifts. He said nothing to them about his intention, and the gifts came as a surprise.
